Procedural Prerequisites

21. The Plaintiff filed two charges of discrimination against the Defendant with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (“EEOC”) alleging race discrimination, age discrimination, sex discrimination, hostile work environment, retaliatory hostile work environment, and retaliation.
22. On January 2, 2024, the Plaintiff contacted the EEOC to determine the status of her complaint regarding discrimination and retaliation against Curtiss Wright.
23. On January 3, 2024, the Plaintiff again contacted the EEOC to find out the status of her charge of discrimination against the Defendant for her termination and discrimination received from May of 2023 to November of 2023.
24. The Plaintiff did not receive a response regarding the Charge. The Plaintiff continued to send emails to find out the status of filing the charge.
25. The Plaintiff contacted the EEOC to file a third charge of discrimination. On May 2, 2024, the Plaintiff filed her third charge of discrimination, 14C-2024-00464, with the EEOC and the SCHAC. The charge alleged Race and Sex Discrimination in violation of Title VII and Retaliation from 12/6/2022 to 11/21/2023.
26. The Charge set forth the following: “I was intimidated and subjected to disparate treatment from on or about December 6, 2022 through November 21, 2023. I was treated less favorably than the other employees (Caucasian/Male). I was denied training, accused of not doing my job properly and given unsatisfactory evaluation that included previous dates of unsatisfactory job performance that had been addressed. Moreover, whenever I made a complaint, it would take months for the investigation, but when an employee (Caucasian/Male) made a complaint, it was investigated right away. Because of my race and sex, I was subjected to such treatment. I was disciplined and suspended on or about November 14, 2023. I was written up and sent home without pay pending an investigation. The stated reason given was unprofessional conduct. I am aware of other employees (Caucasian) who displayed unprofessional conduct but was not reprimanded or suspended. Because of my race, I was subjected to such treatment. I was discharged on or about November 21, 2023. I called to check on the status of my investigation with no response. I received notification on December 2, 2023, that I was terminated. I believe I was subjected to such treatment because of my race, and in retaliation for my complaints to upper management about how the company discriminate against the African American women. I therefore believe I have been discriminated against because of my race (African American), sex (Female) and in retaliation for engaging in an activity protected by the South Carolina Human Affairs Law, as amended, and Title VII of the US Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended.”

27. On November 13, 2024, the SCHAC issued its right to sue stating that more than 180 had expired since the filing of the charge of discrimination (14C-2024-00464).
28. The EEOC issued its Notice of Right to Sue to the Plaintiff on November 19, 2024 Charge No: 415-2026-01150.

37. On May 4, 2023, the Plaintiff filed a complaint with the Office of the Naval Inspector General. The Hotline and Investigations Division informed the Plaintiff that if she wished to pursue her claims she needed to provide specific details and complete the Navy Hotline Complaint Form.

Case No. 2:25-cv-00405-RMG-MGB

38. On May 19, 2023, the Plaintiff was conducting a Magnetic Particle Test on large diaphragms (a turbine component) with Joseph Couillard. The Plaintiff and Mr. Couillard were in a large tent to create a dark environment to conduct the test. In the middle of the test Brian Fogerty burst into the tent and began to scream at the Plaintiff and violently point his finger at the Plaintiff. Fogerty's face was red with his veins popping out of his skin. Fogerty continued to yell and scream at the Plaintiff for several minutes. The Plaintiff and Mr. Couillard were shocked at his behavior. The Plaintiff was seated on a chair with rollers. In an attempt to get away from Fogerty she backed away from him on the chair and when he was done with his shocking tirade the Plaintiff informed him that she would let Joe (Joe Cabaup, NDT Level III Manager) know. Fogerty stated "Good" and stomped out of the tent.
39. The Plaintiff reported the behavior to management and Human Resources. Nothing was done to Fogerty. This behavior of Fogerty was an example used by Stephanie Lanier as constructive feedback to the Plaintiff.
40. The Plaintiff filed her first charge of discrimination, 415-2023-01259, on May 31, 2023. The Charge alleged discrimination on May 19, 2023. The charge stated the following: I. I began working for the above-named employer on or about May 19, 2022, as a Non-destructive Testing Inspector. While performing as an NDT Inspector I successfully fulfilled the essential functions of my job. On May 19, 2023, I was subjected to workplace harassment when Brian Fogarty (male, Caucasian), Supervisor became upset with me for not checking QPC Code. Brian began to yell and wave his finger in my face continually while questioning my actions. I informed Antonio Coleman (male, African American) Supervisor, Stephanie Lanier (female, Caucasian), Human Resources, and TJ Hines (male, African American) of the incident and that I was displeased and felt disrespected. II. I was subjected to a hostile work environment which included bullying, harassment, and threatening behavior. III. I believe I was discriminated against because of my sex, female and race, Black, in violation of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended.
41. The EEOC issued the right to sue regarding the first charge of discrimination on June 5, 2023. The Plaintiff did not file a cause of action with the Court for fear of further retaliation.
42. On June 20, 2023, the Plaintiff sent her first letter to the CEO of Curtiss-Wright Corporation Lynn M. Bamford regarding the treatment of African American women at SAS Summerville.
43. On June 28, 2023, the Plaintiff contacted the CEO of Curtiss-Wright Corporation, Lynn M. Bamford regarding the treatment that women and specifically African American women were receiving at the Summerville facility. The Plaintiff specifically stated that she was being subjected to wage discrimination, discrimination based on sex, favoritism, ageism, bullying, harassment and a hostile work environment. The Plaintiff specifically stated that there was a culture of abusive and aggressive behaviors towards women that were not being addressed. The Plaintiff further addressed that Curtiss-Wright was violating its own policies by allowing this culture to be perpetrated against women. The Plaintiff further informed the CEO, Lynn M. Bamford that the incidents involving bullying, harassment, hostile work environment, discrimination had been reported to Human Resources, Stephanie Lanier with no resolution, investigation or determination. The letter went on to state: "Women are not valued and openly disrespected because that's the climate at SAS Summerville. Also black women contractors sit in contract positions for a long time before being converted to full time. There are instances where they aren't converted to full time employees but Curtiss-Wright will turn around and hire a white person male or female direct. These issues are currently going on right now. When I was hired, I was hired as a contractor and spent 3 months as a contractor before I was hired direct. A month after I was hired direct a white male, Patrick Ingram was hired direct as the NDT lead inspector. Since Patrick Ingram was hired there has been continuous favoritism displayed towards him. He was paid more than me and given a lead position when hired. I have twice as many years experience as Patrick and am also almost twice his age. When I questioned why Patrick was given a lead position and I wasn't made aware that there was a lead position posted I was given a bogus excuse. I was told that Patrick would be helping out in Final Inspection and NDT. Until I questioned this Patrick was working full time in NDT alongside me. After I filed a complaint with Human Resources my supervisor, Joe Cabaup had Patrick training in Final Inspection. He was supposed to cover both departments. For months now Patrick is hardly ever in NDT and spends most of his days in Final Inspection. I was recently told that Patrick said he preferred to stay in Final Inspection and that he didn't want to be in NDT anymore. Patrick also stated that he didn't want to go to second shift and that he would quit if they made him. Joe Cabaup and Shane Sablotsky both tried to get me to train in Final Inspection so I could be moved to second shift. I told them that I was not going to be moved around to accommodate Patrick. Basically whatever Patrick wants management goes out of their way to accommodate him. I have faced wage discrimination and discrimination based on sex, race, and age. As well as favoritism towards Patrick. I have attached documentation regarding all my claims. I even have communication between me and Megan Agler, former NDT Inspector regarding the bullying from Michelle Broman-Bolton. All claims that I mentioned can be verified with the welders and the Wash department."

44. On July 12, 2023, the Plaintiff went to Human Resources to address the issue of Patrick Ingram not fulfilling his duties as one of the NDT Tech's. Mr. Ingram was failing to participate in daily inspections. The Plaintiff reported this to Stephanie Lanier. The

Plaintiff reported the blatant and continuous favoritism shown to Patrick Ingram since June/July 2022.

45. On July 14, 2023, Stephanie Lanier falsified a disciplinary action report stating she gave it to the Plaintiff.
46. On July 20, 2023, Stephanie Lanier informed the Plaintiff that Brian Fogarty was not bullying her it was constructive feedback.
47. On July 25, 2023, the Plaintiff was required to attend a meeting with Stephanie Lanier, Mary Workoff, and Antonio Coleman regarding bullying, discrimination and favoritism. Workoff and Lanier informed the Plaintiff that the bullying incident with Fogarty was handled and that it may not have been what the Plaintiff wanted but it was addressed. The Plaintiff's response was how many chances do you get to bully someone. Lanier informed the Plaintiff that "it depends." The fact that the Defendant continuously allowed the Plaintiff to be bullied and perpetrated further retaliatory hostile work environment was a violation of their own policies and procedures, State and Federal Law.
48. On July 27, 2023, the Plaintiff emailed Stephanie Lanier and Antonio Coleman and stated that the accusation that she had bullied Patrick Ingram was a clear example of favoritism and discrimination based on race. The Plaintiff further complained that Fogarty's bullying and hostile work environment was not "constructive feedback."
49. On July 31, 2023, the Plaintiff received an email from Paul Ferdenzi, Vice President/General Counsel/Corporate Secretary that the CEO-Bamford had forwarded her complaint to him for handling. Ferdenzi further set forth that an independent investigation would be performed on her claims.
50. On August 7, 2023, the Plaintiff informed the Defendant's Ferdenzi that she had sent the materials to him regarding her complaint a month ago and she was contacting news outlets. Ferdenzi's response was to inform Ms. Nelson "Please feel free to do whatever you believe is best for you. If you are telling me these things to influence our investigation, it won't work. We will conduct an independent and objective review of your concerns and then let you know what we determine."
51. On August 10, 2023, the Plaintiff filed a complaint with the Naval Inspector General (NAVINSGEN). The complaint addressed Brian Fogarty violating policies regarding bullying based on sex and the fact that the Defendant despite her several complaints managers and human resources refused to address any complaints. The Defendant further covered up all incidents and complaints.

Case No. 2:25-cv-00405-RMG-MGB

52. On August 26, 2023, the Plaintiff filed a complaint with the Naval Inspector General (NAVINSGEN). The complaint was specifically against Brian Fogarty and his treatment of women in the Defendant's employ. Part of the Plaintiff's complaint to NAVINSGEN was specifically that the Defendant's investigation into her several complaints had taken over three months and nothing had been done. The Plaintiff specifically informed NAVINSGEN that "There is a culture of abusive behavior towards women. There is no one holding perpetrators accountable for their actions even when there are complaints filed. Management is too concerned with protecting their friends and not following laws and their own code of conduct." The Plaintiff further informed NAVINSGEN that she filed complaints with the EEOC and the EEOC informed her that there was not enough evidence to go forward with a charge of discrimination. The Plaintiff informed NAVINSGEN that she was being retaliated against.
53. On September 18, 2023, Curtiss Wright fired the plant manager, Mary Workoff, at SAS Summerville, SC.
54. The Plaintiff's timecard was altered for September 26-29, 2023.
55. On September 26, 2023, the Plaintiff filed a formal complaint with Human Resources EthicsPoint for Curtiss-Wright. The Plaintiff specifically complained that she was being blocked from printing due to the fact that she was using the emails to report the Defendant to the Department of the Navy. The complaint was specifically regarding treatment received from Stephanie Lanier, her harassment of the Plaintiff, bullying of the Plaintiff, the failure of her to treat the Plaintiff with respect and her discipline of the Plaintiff in retaliation for her complaints to the EEOC, Department of the Navy, and Inspector General.
56. On September 28, 2023, the Plaintiff filed another complaint with the Naval Inspector General (NAVINSGEN) alleging that she was being subjected to retaliation and hostile work environment. The Plaintiff informed NAVINSGEN that she was being verbally counseled and threatened with termination.
57. The Plaintiff's second charge of discrimination, 415-2023-01656, was filed on October 5, 2023. The charge of discrimination set forth the actions of the Defendant occurred from March 19, 2023, to December 4, 2023. The charge stated the following:
- "I. I began working for the above-named employer on or about May 19, 2022, as a Non-destructive Testing Inspector. While performing as an NDT Inspector, I successfully fulfilled the essential functions of my job. On May 19, 2023, I was subjected to workplace harassment when Brian Fogarty (male, Caucasian), Supervisor, became upset with me for not checking the QPC Code. Brian began to yell and repeatedly wave his finger in my face while questioning my actions. I informed Antonio Coleman (male,

Case No. 2:25-cv-00405-RMG-MGB

African American), Supervisor, Stephanie Lanier (female, Caucasian), Human Resources Manager of the incident and that I was displeased and disrespected. After filing a complaint of discrimination, I believe I was subjected to retaliation when my printing capabilities were disabled multiple times and my work hours had been adjusted without my knowledge.

II. I was subjected to a hostile work environment which included bullying, harassment and threatening behavior.

III. I believe I was discriminated against because of my sex, female and race, Black, in violation of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended.

58. On October 6, 2023, the EEOC issued the right to sue regarding the Plaintiff's second charge of discrimination.
59. On October 16, 2023, the Plaintiff was informed that her complaint to Ethics was determined to be without merit.
60. On November 7, 2023, the Plaintiff filed another complaint with regarding her work environment and retaliation that she was suffering. The Plaintiff specifically stated that her time was being tampered with. The Plaintiff further stated that she was not being certified and inhibited from being allowed to be paid more money due to the Defendant's actions of failing to give her the practical exam. The Plaintiff further informed NAVINSGEN that male employees were being paid more per hour. The Plaintiff further complained about the Defendant's failure to convert certain individuals from contract to direct employees.
61. On November 14, 2023, the Plaintiff was given a final written warning. The Plaintiff read through the final written warning and realized that Ms. Lanier had lied in the disciplinary action. After the final written warning was given to her the Plaintiff went to HR and informed Lanier that she had lied. In order to not appear threatening, the Plaintiff immediately backed away from Ms. Lanier's desk and did not make any statements but sat in a chair several feet away from Lanier. However, Lanier lied to others about what happened stating that the Plaintiff stood over her and being threatening. After Lanier lied again about the Plaintiff the Plaintiff was suspended for alleged abusive and unprofessional behavior. The Plaintiff was suspended for this behavior but Fogerty had not been for his behavior towards the Plaintiff in May 2023.
62. On November 15, 2023, the Plaintiff was informed by a co-worker that Shane Sablotsky and others were informing the employees that Plaintiff was combative and threw water on a computer during a meeting and that is why she was suspended.

Case No. 2:25-cv-00405-RMG-MGB

66. On December 1, 2023, the Plaintiff contacted April James in Human Resources to determine the status of her suspension and left her a voicemail. The Plaintiff also sent an email. There was no response to the Plaintiff's voicemail or email.
67. In response to her inquiries the Plaintiff received the termination letter.
68. On December 13, 2023, the OFCCP referred the Plaintiff's November 7, 2023 complaint to the Greenville office of the EEOC for investigation.
69. On December 14, 2023, the Plaintiff was informed by the Department of Labor that her complaint with their office was deemed simultaneously dual filed with the EEOC on November 7, 2023, and the matter was transferred to the EEOC for investigation. The OFCCP would not take any further action regarding her complaint.
70. During the Plaintiff's employment, the Plaintiff suffered discrimination based on her race, age, sex, retaliation for her complaints, a general hostile work environment and retaliatory hostile work environment for her complaints to the Department of the Navy, the EEOC and to IG's office in violation of the Defendant's policies and procedures, State and Federal law.
71. That each of the reasons provided by the Defendant for not fixing the Plaintiff's work environment was meant to harass the Plaintiff, demean the Plaintiff, harm the Plaintiff, and retaliate against the Plaintiff.
72. The Defendant, Stephanie Lanier published false statements to employees and others to facilitate the termination of the Plaintiff. The false statements by Lanier led Management to believe a false narrative regarding the Plaintiff and her actions within the Defendant's business. That based on those statements Lanier interfered with the Plaintiff's employment.
73. After the Plaintiff was terminated from her employment Shane Sablotsky made false statements regarding the Plaintiff's performance and actions to place the Plaintiff in a false light.

76. That Defendant wrongfully discriminated against the Plaintiff in violation of Title VII 42 U.S.C. 2000, 42 U.S.C. 1981 and the Age Discrimination in Employment Act.
77. That each of the reasons presented by the Defendant for the Plaintiff's discipline, counseling, suspension and termination were pretextual. The Defendant has published a false narrative regarding the Plaintiff's employment in order to perpetuate a discriminatory retaliatory, and hostile work environment that has led to severe emotional distress.
78. The Defendant's actions described herein were intentional and inflicted upon Plaintiff severe mental and emotional distress.
79. The Plaintiff was replaced with a Caucasian Male.
80. Loss of employment; e. Loss of Future employment; f. incurred attorney fees for this action; g. incurred costs of this action; and h. will incur future attorney fees and costs.
92. That the Plaintiff is entitled to an award of damages in the amount of actual damages, compensatory damages, consequential damages, punitive damages, attorney's fees previous, future and present, costs of previous future and this action, and other damages such as this Honorable Court deems appropriate and just.
93. That the Defendant evaluated the plaintiff differently based on her complaints.
94. That the Plaintiff's employer discriminated against the Plaintiff based on her complaints.
95. That the Defendant is the proximate and direct cause of damage to the Plaintiff.
96. Pursuant to 42 U.S.C. Section 1981A, Plaintiff also seeks compensatory damages including future pecuniary losses, emotional pain, suffering, inconvenience, mental anguish, loss of enjoyment of life and other non-pecuniary losses.
97. Pursuant to 42 U.S.C. Section 1981A, Plaintiff also seeks to recover punitive damages from Defendant for discriminating against Plaintiff with malice or with reckless indifference to Plaintiff's federal protected rights.

Case No. 2:25-cv-00405-RMG-MGB

98. Plaintiff seek all back pay and fringe benefits to which she is entitled under 29 U.S.C. Section 626(b), as well future damages and liquidated damages under the act.
99. On November 21, 2023, Plaintiff began writing letters to the White House to President Joseph R. Biden and Vice President Kamala Harris. The Plaintiff wrote 5 letters from November 24, 2023 to May 8, 2024 detailing the discrimination and retaliation suffered from Curtiss-Wright and other federal agencies.
100. In early 2024 and into 2025, Plaintiff experienced repeated cyber-intrusions and physical surveillance:
 - Her personal devices displayed unauthorized log-in attempts, corrupted files, and system override messages after she pursued her complaints.
 - While on mandatory work travel in Yuma, Arizona in April of 2024, Plaintiff was followed by an unknown woman; later confirmed on hotel surveillance, which Plaintiff reported to hotel management.
 - On April 22, 2025, her personal vehicle's infotainment system played unsolicited audio and broadcast her private calls without consent.
101. Defendants were aware of Plaintiff's protected disclosures yet took no steps to halt the hacking or surveillance and instead coordinated adverse actions culminating in her termination.
102. After Plaintiff initiated this lawsuit and continued to pursue her discrimination and retaliation claims, Defendants engaged in additional conduct directed at Plaintiff in connection with this litigation.
103. Defendants, through counsel, demanded production of Plaintiff's entire medical history, including records unrelated to the claims in this action.
104. Prior to these demands, Plaintiff provided a clinical summary letter from her treating therapist summarizing the emotional distress caused by Defendants' conduct.
105. Despite receiving this clinical summary letter, Defendants continued to demand Plaintiff's entire medical file.
106. Defendants also demanded production of Plaintiff's social media accounts, tax returns, and information relating to Plaintiff's personal business activities.
107. Plaintiff alleges these demands are overly broad and unrelated to the core employment discrimination claims at issue.

Case No. 2:25-cv-00405-RMG-MGB

108. Plaintiff believes these actions were undertaken to intimidate and burden Plaintiff for pursuing her discrimination and retaliation claims.
109. These actions occurred after Plaintiff engaged in protected activity including filing charges of discrimination and initiating this lawsuit.

CLAIMS FOR RELIEF

Count I: Race Discrimination (Title VII & 42 U.S.C. § 1981)

110. Defendants unlawfully subjected Plaintiff to disparate treatment, including with respect to pay, promotions, training, and discipline, because of her race (African American) in violation of Title VII and 42 U.S.C. § 1981.
111. Defendants treated similarly situated Caucasian employees, specifically Patrick Ingram, more favorably.
112. The adverse employment actions taken against Plaintiff, culminating in her termination, were pretext for unlawful race discrimination.

Count II: Sex Discrimination (Title VII)

113. Defendants unlawfully discriminated against Plaintiff based on her sex (female) by subjecting her to a hostile work environment, disparate treatment, and termination.
114. Defendants treated a similarly situated male coworker (Patrick Ingram) more favorably with respect to pay, job duties, and discipline. Plaintiff was also subjected to hostile and threatening behavior from a male supervisor (Brian Fogerty) that was not experienced by male coworkers.

Count III: Age Discrimination (ADEA)

115. At all relevant times, Plaintiff was over the age of 40 and a member of the protected class under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act (ADEA).
116. Defendants discriminated against Plaintiff based on her age by hiring a substantially younger, less-experienced male (Patrick Ingram) into a lead position at a higher rate of pay, and by denying Plaintiff promotions and opportunities afforded to him.
117. Plaintiff complained of ageism to Defendant's CEO, which was a motivating factor in the subsequent retaliation and her termination.

Count IV: Hostile Work Environment (Title VII)

Case No. 2:25-cv-00405-RMG-MGB

118. Plaintiff was subjected to unwelcome harassment based on her race and sex that was severe and pervasive enough to alter the conditions of her employment and create an abusive working environment.
119. This harassment included, but was not limited to, being yelled at and physically threatened by a supervisor, being subjected to a culture of favoritism toward a Caucasian male employee, and having her legitimate complaints dismissed by Human Resources.
120. Defendant Curtiss-Wright knew or should have known of the harassment and failed to take prompt and effective remedial action.

Count V: Retaliation (Title VII & ADEA)

121. Plaintiff engaged in protected activity by complaining internally about race, sex, and age discrimination; by filing charges of discrimination with the EEOC; and by reporting misconduct to the CEO and federal agencies.
122. As a direct result of her protected activities, Defendants subjected Plaintiff to a series of escalating adverse actions, including creating a false disciplinary record, suspending her, and ultimately terminating her employment.
123. The temporal proximity between Plaintiff's complaints and the adverse actions establishes a causal link, and Defendants' proffered reasons for their actions were pretextual.

Count VI: Slander (State Law)

124. Defendants Lanier and Sablotsky published false and unprivileged statements about Plaintiff to third parties, including other employees.
125. Specifically, Lanier created a false disciplinary record to justify Plaintiff's suspension and termination. Sablotsky falsely told other employees that Plaintiff was "combative" and "threw water on a computer."
126. These statements were defamatory per se, as they imputed professional misconduct and were intended to harm Plaintiff's reputation, and did in fact cause harm, including her termination.

Count VII: Intentional Interference with Contractual Relations (State Law)

127. Plaintiff had an at-will employment contract with Defendant Curtiss-Wright.
128. Defendants Lanier and Sablotsky were aware of this contractual relationship.

Case No. 2:25-cv-00405-RMG-MGB

129. Lanier and Sablotsky intentionally and unjustifiably interfered with this contract by making false statements and orchestrating a pretextual basis for Plaintiff's termination, thereby inducing Curtiss-Wright to breach its employment relationship with Plaintiff.
130. As a direct result of their interference, Plaintiff suffered economic damages, including the loss of her job.

Count VIII: Whistleblower Retaliation (41 U.S.C. § 4712; 31 U.S.C. § 3730(h))

131. Plaintiff made protected disclosures of gross mismanagement, abuse of authority, and violations of law and regulation related to a federal contract to authorized officials, including the Department of the Navy Inspector General.
132. Defendants retaliated against Plaintiff for these disclosures by, among other things, creating a hostile work environment, fabricating grounds for discipline, terminating her, and engaging in post-termination surveillance and harassment, in violation of the federal contractor and False Claims Act whistleblower protections.

Count IX: Title VI Violation (42 U.S.C. § 2000d)

133. Defendant Curtiss-Wright is a recipient of federal financial assistance as a contractor for the Department of Defense.
134. Defendant subjected Plaintiff to discrimination on the basis of her race in a program or activity receiving federal financial assistance, in violation of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Count X: Invasion of Privacy - Intrusion Upon Seclusion (State Law)

135. Defendants intentionally intruded, physically or otherwise, upon the solitude or seclusion of Plaintiff and her private affairs or concerns.
136. This intrusion, which included cyber-intrusions into personal devices and physical surveillance, is highly offensive to a reasonable person and caused Plaintiff anguish and suffering.

Count XI: Illegal Interception of Communications (Federal Wiretap Act, 18 U.S.C. § 2511)

137. Defendants intentionally intercepted and accessed Plaintiff's electronic and oral communications without her consent, including by monitoring her emails and broadcasting her private calls from her vehicle's infotainment system, in violation of the Federal Wiretap Act.

Count XII: Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress (State Law)

Case No. 2:25-cv-00405-RMG-MGB

139. Defendants' conduct—including the coordinated campaign of harassment, fabrication of disciplinary records, retaliatory termination, and post-termination surveillance—was intentional, extreme, and outrageous.
140. This conduct was so extreme in degree as to go beyond all possible bounds of decency and is regarded as atrocious and utterly intolerable in a civilized community.
141. As a direct result of Defendants' conduct, Plaintiff suffered severe emotional distress.

Count XIII: Civil Conspiracy (42 U.S.C. § 1985(3))

142. Defendants Lanier and Sablotsky, acting in concert with other CWC personnel, conspired for the purpose of depriving Plaintiff of the equal protection of the laws, or of equal privileges and immunities under the laws, due to her race and her protected activities.
143. In furtherance of the conspiracy, Defendants committed overt acts, including fabricating misconduct allegations and orchestrating Plaintiff's suspension and termination, which caused injury to Plaintiff.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff respectfully requests that this Court enter judgment in her favor and award:

(a) Declaratory relief that Defendants' actions violated Plaintiff's rights; (b) Compensatory damages, including for back pay, front pay, emotional distress, suffering, inconvenience, mental anguish, and loss of enjoyment of life; (c) Liquidated damages for willful violations of the ADEA; (d) Punitive damages for Defendants' willful, malicious, and reckless conduct; (e) Pre-judgment and post-judgment interest; (f) Costs of this action and reasonable attorneys' fees; and (g) Such other and further relief as the Court deems just and proper.

Procedural Prerequisites

21. The Plaintiff filed two charges of discrimination against the Defendant with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (“EEOC”) alleging race discrimination, age discrimination, sex discrimination, hostile work environment, retaliatory hostile work environment, and retaliation.
22. On January 2, 2024, the Plaintiff contacted the EEOC to determine the status of her complaint regarding discrimination and retaliation against Curtiss Wright.
23. On January 3, 2024, the Plaintiff again contacted the EEOC to find out the status of her charge of discrimination against the Defendant for her termination and discrimination received from May of 2023 to November of 2023.
24. The Plaintiff did not receive a response regarding the Charge. The Plaintiff continued to send emails to find out the status of filing the charge.
25. The Plaintiff contacted the EEOC to file a third charge of discrimination. On May 2, 2024, the Plaintiff filed her third charge of discrimination, 14C-2024-00464, with the EEOC and the SCHAC. The charge alleged Race and Sex Discrimination in violation of Title VII and Retaliation from 12/6/2022 to 11/21/2023.
26. The Charge set forth the following: “I was intimidated and subjected to disparate treatment from on or about December 6, 2022 through November 21, 2023. I was treated less favorably than the other employees (Caucasian/Male). I was denied training, accused of not doing my job properly and given unsatisfactory evaluation that included previous dates of unsatisfactory job performance that had been addressed. Moreover, whenever I made a complaint, it would take months for the investigation, but when an employee (Caucasian/Male) made a complaint, it was investigated right away. Because of my race and sex, I was subjected to such treatment. I was disciplined and suspended on or about November 14, 2023. I was written up and sent home without pay pending an investigation. The stated reason given was unprofessional conduct. I am aware of other employees (Caucasian) who displayed unprofessional conduct but was not reprimanded or suspended. Because of my race, I was subjected to such treatment. I was discharged on or about November 21, 2023. I called to check on the status of my investigation with no response. I received notification on December 2, 2023, that I was terminated. I believe I was subjected to such treatment because of my race, and in retaliation for my complaints to upper management about how the company discriminate against the African American women. I therefore believe I have been discriminated against because of my race (African American), sex (Female) and in retaliation for engaging in an activity protected by the South Carolina Human Affairs Law, as amended, and Title VII of the US Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended.”

27. On November 13, 2024, the SCHAC issued its right to sue stating that more than 180 had expired since the filing of the charge of discrimination (14C-2024-00464).
28. The EEOC issued its Notice of Right to Sue to the Plaintiff on November 19, 2024 Charge No: 415-2026-01150.
29. That fewer than ninety days have elapsed since the Plaintiff received the Right to Sue on the Plaintiff’s third charge of discrimination.
30. Plaintiff has also received an additional Notice of Right to Sue from the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission Charge No: 415-2026-01150, which has been filed with this Court (ECF 300) and is incorporated herein by reference.
31. Plaintiff has exhausted all administrative remedies required prior to filing this action. Plaintiff received Notices of Right to Sue from the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and the South Carolina Human Affairs Commission, which have been filed with this Court and are incorporated herein by reference.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

32. That the Plaintiff is a resident of the United States and at all relevant times the Plaintiff resided in South Carolina.
33. That the Plaintiff is an African American female.
34. The Plaintiff was hired by the Defendant in April of 2022 as an NDT technician.
35. The Plaintiff was considered a good employee until she made her first complaint of differential treatment.
36. In November of 2022, the Plaintiff filed a complaint regarding treatment by an Executive Assistant harassing her.
37. Nothing was done regarding the incident. However, the work environment began to be substantially different.
38. On May 4, 2023, the Plaintiff filed a complaint with the Office of the Naval Inspector General. The Hotline and Investigations Division informed the Plaintiff that if she wished to pursue her claims she needed to provide specific details and complete the Navy Hotline Complaint Form.

Case No. 2:25-cv-00405-RMG-MGB

39. On May 19, 2023, the Plaintiff was conducting a Magnetic Particle Test on large diaphragms (a turbine component) with Joseph Couillard. The Plaintiff and Mr. Couillard were in a large tent to create a dark environment to conduct the test. In the middle of the test Brian Fogerty burst into the tent and began to scream at the Plaintiff and violently point his finger at the Plaintiff. Fogerty's face was red with his veins popping out of his skin. Fogerty continued to yell and scream at the Plaintiff for several minutes. The Plaintiff and Mr. Couillard were shocked at his behavior. The Plaintiff was seated on a chair with rollers. In an attempt to get away from Fogerty she backed away from him on the chair and when he was done with his shocking tirade the Plaintiff informed him that she would let Joe (Joe Cabaup, NDT Level III Manager) know. Fogerty stated "Good" and stomped out of the tent.
40. The Plaintiff reported the behavior to management and Human Resources. Nothing was done to Fogerty. This behavior of Fogerty was an example used by Stephanie Lanier as constructive feedback to the Plaintiff.
41. The Plaintiff filed her first charge of discrimination, 415-2023-01259, on May 31, 2023. The Charge alleged discrimination on May 19, 2023. The charge stated the following: I. I began working for the above-named employer on or about May 19, 2022, as a Non-destructive Testing Inspector. While performing as an NDT Inspector I successfully fulfilled the essential functions of my job. On May 19, 2023, I was subjected to workplace harassment when Brian Fogarty (male, Caucasian), Supervisor became upset with me for not checking QPC Code. Brian began to yell and wave his finger in my face continually while questioning my actions. I informed Antonio Coleman (male, African American) Supervisor, Stephanie Lanier (female, Caucasian), Human Resources, and TJ Hines (male, African American) of the incident and that I was displeased and felt disrespected. II. I was subjected to a hostile work environment which included bullying, harassment, and threatening behavior. III. I believe I was discriminated against because of my sex, female and race, Black, in violation of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended.
42. The EEOC issued the right to sue regarding the first charge of discrimination on June 5, 2023. The Plaintiff did not file a cause of action with the Court for fear of further retaliation.
43. On June 20, 2023, the Plaintiff sent her first letter to the CEO of Curtiss-Wright Corporation Lynn M. Bamford regarding the treatment of African American women at SAS Summerville.
44. On June 28, 2023, the Plaintiff contacted the CEO of Curtiss-Wright Corporation, Lynn M. Bamford regarding the treatment that women and specifically African American women were receiving at the Summerville facility. The Plaintiff specifically stated that she was being subjected to wage discrimination, discrimination based on sex, favoritism, ageism, bullying, harassment and a hostile work environment. The Plaintiff specifically stated that there was a culture of abusive and aggressive behaviors towards women that were not being addressed. The Plaintiff further addressed that Curtiss-Wright was violating its own policies by allowing this culture to be perpetrated against women. The Plaintiff further informed the CEO, Lynn M. Bamford that the incidents involving bullying, harassment, hostile work environment, discrimination had been reported to Human Resources, Stephanie Lanier with no resolution, investigation or determination. The letter went on to state: "Women are not valued and openly disrespected because that's the climate at SAS Summerville. Also black women contractors sit in contract positions for a long time before being converted to full time. There are instances where they aren't converted to full time employees but Curtiss-Wright will turn around and hire a white person male or female direct. These issues are currently going on right now. When I was hired, I was hired as a contractor and spent 3 months as a contractor before I was hired direct. A month after I was hired direct a white male, Patrick Ingram was hired direct as the NDT lead inspector. Since Patrick Ingram was hired there has been continuous favoritism displayed towards him. He was paid more than me and given a lead position when hired. I have twice as many years experience as Patrick and am also almost twice his age. When I questioned why Patrick was given a lead position and I wasn't made aware that there was a lead position posted I was given a bogus excuse. I was told that Patrick would be helping out in Final Inspection and NDT. Until I questioned this Patrick was working full time in NDT alongside me. After I filed a complaint with Human Resources my supervisor, Joe Cabaup had Patrick training in Final Inspection. He was supposed to cover both departments. For months now Patrick is hardly ever in NDT and spends most of his days in Final Inspection. I was recently told that Patrick said he preferred to stay in Final Inspection and that he didn't want to be in NDT anymore. Patrick also stated that he didn't want to go to second shift and that he would quit if they made him. Joe Cabaup and Shane Sablotsky both tried to get me to train in Final Inspection so I could be moved to second shift. I told them that I was not going to be moved around to accommodate Patrick. Basically whatever Patrick wants management goes out of their way to accommodate him. I have faced wage discrimination and discrimination based on sex, race, and age. As well as favoritism towards Patrick. I have attached documentation regarding all my claims. I even have communication between me and Megan Agler, former NDT Inspector regarding the bullying from Michelle Broman-Bolton. All claims that I mentioned can be verified with the welders and the Wash department."

45. On July 12, 2023, the Plaintiff went to Human Resources to address the issue of Patrick Ingram not fulfilling his duties as one of the NDT Tech's. Mr. Ingram was failing to participate in daily inspections. The Plaintiff reported this to Stephanie Lanier. The

Plaintiff reported the blatant and continuous favoritism shown to Patrick Ingram since June/July 2022.

46. On July 14, 2023, Stephanie Lanier falsified a disciplinary action report stating she gave it to the Plaintiff.
47. On July 20, 2023, Stephanie Lanier informed the Plaintiff that Brian Fogarty was not bullying her it was constructive feedback.
48. On July 25, 2023, the Plaintiff was required to attend a meeting with Stephanie Lanier, Mary Workoff, and Antonio Coleman regarding bullying, discrimination and favoritism. Workoff and Lanier informed the Plaintiff that the bullying incident with Fogarty was handled and that it may not have been what the Plaintiff wanted but it was addressed. The Plaintiff's response was how many chances do you get to bully someone. Lanier informed the Plaintiff that "it depends." The fact that the Defendant continuously allowed the Plaintiff to be bullied and perpetrated further retaliatory hostile work environment was a violation of their own policies and procedures, State and Federal Law.
49. On July 27, 2023, the Plaintiff emailed Stephanie Lanier and Antonio Coleman and stated that the accusation that she had bullied Patrick Ingram was a clear example of favoritism and discrimination based on race. The Plaintiff further complained that Fogarty's bullying and hostile work environment was not "constructive feedback."
50. On July 31, 2023, the Plaintiff received an email from Paul Ferdenzi, Vice President/General Counsel/Corporate Secretary that the CEO-Bamford had forwarded her complaint to him for handling. Ferdenzi further set forth that an independent investigation would be performed on her claims.
51. On August 7, 2023, the Plaintiff informed the Defendant's Ferdenzi that she had sent the materials to him regarding her complaint a month ago and she was contacting news outlets. Ferdenzi's response was to inform Ms. Nelson "Please feel free to do whatever you believe is best for you. If you are telling me these things to influence our investigation, it won't work. We will conduct an independent and objective review of your concerns and then let you know what we determine.
52. On August 10, 2023, the Plaintiff filed a complaint with the Naval Inspector General (NAVINSGEN). The complaint addressed Brian Fogarty violating policies regarding bullying based on sex and the fact that the Defendant despite her several complaints managers and human resources refused to address any complaints. The Defendant further covered up all incidents and complaints.

Case No. 2:25-cv-00405-RMG-MGB

53. On August 26, 2023, the Plaintiff filed a complaint with the Naval Inspector General (NAVINSGEN). The complaint was specifically against Brian Fogarty and his treatment of women in the Defendant's employ. Part of the Plaintiff's complaint to NAVINSGEN was specifically that the Defendant's investigation into her several complaints had taken over three months and nothing had been done. The Plaintiff specifically informed NAVINSGEN that "There is a culture of abusive behavior towards women. There is no one holding perpetrators accountable for their actions even when there are complaints filed. Management is too concerned with protecting their friends and not following laws and their own code of conduct." The Plaintiff further informed NAVINSGEN that she filed complaints with the EEOC and the EEOC informed her that there was not enough evidence to go forward with a charge of discrimination. The Plaintiff informed NAVINSGEN that she was being retaliated against.
54. On September 18, 2023, Curtiss Wright fired the plant manager, Mary Workoff, at SAS Summerville, SC.
55. The Plaintiff's timecard was altered for September 26-29, 2023.
56. On September 26, 2023, the Plaintiff filed a formal complaint with Human Resources EthicsPoint for Curtiss-Wright. The Plaintiff specifically complained that she was being blocked from printing due to the fact that she was using the emails to report the Defendant to the Department of the Navy. The complaint was specifically regarding treatment received from Stephanie Lanier, her harassment of the Plaintiff, bullying of the Plaintiff, the failure of her to treat the Plaintiff with respect and her discipline of the Plaintiff in retaliation for her complaints to the EEOC, Department of the Navy, and Inspector General.

112. Defendants treated similarly situated Caucasian employees, specifically Patrick Ingram, more favorably.
113. The adverse employment actions taken against Plaintiff, culminating in her termination, were pretext for unlawful race discrimination.

Count II: Sex Discrimination (Title VII)

114. Defendants unlawfully discriminated against Plaintiff based on her sex (female) by subjecting her to a hostile work environment, disparate treatment, and termination.
115. Defendants treated a similarly situated male coworker (Patrick Ingram) more favorably with respect to pay, job duties, and discipline. Plaintiff was also subjected to hostile and threatening behavior from a male supervisor (Brian Fogerty) that was not experienced by male coworkers.

Count III: Age Discrimination (ADEA)

116. At all relevant times, Plaintiff was over the age of 40 and a member of the protected class under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act (ADEA).
117. Defendants discriminated against Plaintiff based on her age by hiring a substantially younger, less-experienced male (Patrick Ingram) into a lead position at a higher rate of pay, and by denying Plaintiff promotions and opportunities afforded to him.
118. Plaintiff complained of ageism to Defendant's CEO, which was a motivating factor in the subsequent retaliation and her termination.

Count IV: Hostile Work Environment (Title VII)

Case No. 2:25-cv-00405-RMG-MGB

119. Plaintiff was subjected to unwelcome harassment based on her race and sex that was severe and pervasive enough to alter the conditions of her employment and create an abusive working environment.

123. As a direct result of her protected activities, Defendants subjected Plaintiff to a series of escalating adverse actions, including creating a false disciplinary record, suspending her, and ultimately terminating her employment.
124. The temporal proximity between Plaintiff's complaints and the adverse actions establishes a causal link, and Defendants' proffered reasons for their actions were pretextual.

Count VI: Slander (State Law)

125. Defendants Lanier and Sablotsky published false and unprivileged statements about Plaintiff to third parties, including other employees.
126. Specifically, Lanier created a false disciplinary record to justify Plaintiff's suspension and termination. Sablotsky falsely told other employees that Plaintiff was "combative" and "threw water on a computer."

128. Plaintiff had an at-will employment contract with Defendant Curtiss-Wright.
129. Defendants Lanier and Sablotsky were aware of this contractual relationship.

Case No. 2:25-cv-00405-RMG-MGB

130. Lanier and Sablotsky intentionally and unjustifiably interfered with this contract by making false statements and orchestrating a pretextual basis for Plaintiff's termination, thereby inducing Curtiss-Wright to breach its employment relationship with Plaintiff.
131. As a direct result of their interference, Plaintiff suffered economic damages, including the loss of her job.

132. Plaintiff made protected disclosures of gross mismanagement, abuse of authority, and violations of law and regulation related to a federal contract to authorized officials, including the Department of the Navy Inspector General.
133. Defendants retaliated against Plaintiff for these disclosures by, among other things, creating a hostile work environment, fabricating grounds for discipline, terminating her, and engaging in post-termination surveillance and harassment, in violation of the federal contractor and False Claims Act whistleblower protections.

Count IX: Title VI Violation (42 U.S.C. § 2000d)

134. Defendant Curtiss-Wright is a recipient of federal financial assistance as a contractor for the Department of Defense.
135. Defendant subjected Plaintiff to discrimination on the basis of her race in a program or activity receiving federal financial assistance, in violation of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Count X: Invasion of Privacy - Intrusion Upon Seclusion (State Law)

136. Defendants intentionally intruded, physically or otherwise, upon the solitude or seclusion of Plaintiff and her private affairs or concerns.
137. This intrusion, which included cyber-intrusions into personal devices and physical surveillance, is highly offensive to a reasonable person and caused Plaintiff anguish and suffering.

Count XI: Illegal Interception of Communications (Federal Wiretap Act, 18 U.S.C. § 2511)

138. Defendants intentionally intercepted and accessed Plaintiff's electronic and oral communications without her consent, including by monitoring her emails and broadcasting her private calls from her vehicle's infotainment system, in violation of the Federal Wiretap Act.

Count XII: Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress (State Law)

Case No. 2:25-cv-00405-RMG-MGB

139. Defendants' conduct—including the coordinated campaign of harassment, fabrication of disciplinary records, retaliatory termination, and post-termination surveillance—was intentional, extreme, and outrageous.
140. This conduct was so extreme in degree as to go beyond all possible bounds of decency and is regarded as atrocious and utterly intolerable in a civilized community.
141. As a direct result of Defendants' conduct, Plaintiff suffered severe emotional distress.

Count XIII: Civil Conspiracy (42 U.S.C. § 1985(3))

142. Defendants Lanier and Sablotsky, acting in concert with other CWC personnel, conspired for the purpose of depriving Plaintiff of the equal protection of the laws, or of equal privileges and immunities under the laws, due to her race and her protected activities.
143. In furtherance of the conspiracy, Defendants committed overt acts, including fabricating misconduct allegations and orchestrating Plaintiff's suspension and termination, which caused injury to Plaintiff.
